HARRISON'S LETTER.

A MAJLY DOCUMENT FROM THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE.

Every Question Fairly and Squarely Met—No Evasions or Equivoca-tions—Protection the Main Issue —Sound Talk on Silver, Chinese and Contract Labor.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 11.—Following is Harrison's letter accepting the Republican Presidential nomination:

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 11.

"Hon. M. M. Estee and others of the Committee—Gentlemen: When your committee visited me on the Fourth of July last and presented the official announcement of my nomination for the Presidency of the United States by the Republican National Convention, I promised, as soon as practicable, to communicate to you my acceptance of the nomination. Since that time the work of receiving and addressing almost daily large delegations of my fellow-citizens has not only occupied all of my time, but has in some measure rendered it unnecessary for me to use this letter as a medium of communication to the public of my views upon the questions involved in the campaign. I appreciate very highly the confidence and respect manifested by the Convention and accept the nomination with a feeling of gratitude and a full sense of the responsibilities which accompany it. It is a matter of congratulation that the declarations of the Chicago Convention upon the questions which now attract the interests of our people are so clear and emphatic. There is further cause of congratulation in the fact that the convention utterances of the Democratic party, in any degree uncertain and contradictory, can now be judged and interpreted by executive acts and messages, and by definite propositions in legislation. This is especially true of what is popularly known as

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

"The issue cannot be seen abstractly, but between wide-apart principles.
Foreign competitors of our markets have with quick instinct seen how one issue of this contest may bring them advantage, and our own people are not so dull as to miss or neglect the grave interests that are involved for them. The assault upon our protective system is open and defiant. Protection is assailed as unconstitutional in law, or as void of principle, and those who hold such views sincerely cannot stop short of an absolute elimination from our tariff laws of the principles of protection. The Mills bill is only a step, but it is toward an object that the leaders of Democratic thought and legislation have clearly in mind. The important question is not so much the length of the step as the direction of it. Judged by the Executive message of December last, by the Mills bill, by the debates in Congress and by the St. Louis platform, the Democratic party will, if supported by the country, place the tariff laws upon a purely revenue basis. Is this not practically free trade in the English sense?
The legend upon the banner may not be free trade, it may be the more obscure motto, 'Tariff reform,' but neither the banner nor the inscription is conclusive or indeed very important.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT.

"The assault itself is the important fact. Those who teach that import duties upon all foreign goods sold in our markets are detrimental to the consumer and that the price of domestic competing articles is enhanced to the amount of the duty on the imported articles, and that every million of dollars collected for customs duties represents many millions more which do not reach the Treasury, but are paid by our citizens as increased cost of domestic productions resulting from tariff laws, may not intend to discredit in the mind of others our system of levying duties on competing or foreign products, but it is clearly already discredited in their own. We cannot doubt, without impugning their integrity, that if free to act upon their convictions, they would so revise our laws as to lay the burden of customs revenues upon articles that are not produced in this country, and to place upon the free list competing foreign products. I do not stop to refute this theory as to the effect of our duties.
Those who advance it are students of maxims and not of markets. They may be safely allowed to call their protection

TARIFF REFORM.

If the people understand that in the end the argument compels free trade in all competing products. This end may not be reached abruptly, and its approach may be accompanied with some expressions of sympathy from protected industries and our working people; but it will certainly come if these early steps do not arouse the people to active resistance. The Republican party holds that a protective tariff is constitutional, wholesome and necessary. We do not offer a fixed schedule, but a principle.

We will revise the schedule and modify rates, but always with an intelligent provision as to the effect upon domestic production and the wages of our working people. We believe it to be one of the worthy objects of tariff legislation to preserve

AMERICAN MARKETS FOR AMERICAN PRO- DUCTORS

And to maintain an American scale of wages by adequate discriminating duties upon foreign competing products. The effect of lower rates and larger importations upon the public revenue is contingent and doubtful, but not so the effect upon American productions and American wages. Less work and lower wages must be accepted as the inevitable result of the increased offering of foreign goods in our markets. By way of recompense for this reduction in his wages and loss to the American market, it is suggested that the workingman will have an undiminished purchasing power, and that he will be able to make up for the loss of the home market by the benefits he will enjoy from an enlarged foreign market.

A BIRD IN THE HAND, ETC.

"Our workmen have the settlement of this question in their own hands. They now obtain higher wages and live more comfortably than those of any other country. They will make the choice between the substantial advantages they have in hand and the defective promises and forecasts of those theorizing reformers. They will decide for themselves and for the country whether our protective system shall be continued or destroyed.

THE TREASURY SURPLUS.

"The amount of which is variously stated, has directed public attention to the consideration of methods by which the national income may best be reduced to the level of a wise and necessary expenditure. This condition has been commented upon by those who are hostile to protective custom duties as an advantageous cause of attack upon our tariff laws. They have magnified and nursed the surplus which they affect to deprecate, seemingly for the purpose of exaggerating the evil, in order to reconcile people to the extreme remedy they propose. Proper handling of the surplus does not necessitate and should not suggest the abandonment or impairment of the protective system. The methods suggested by our convention will not need to be exhausted in order to effect necessary reductions. We are not likely to be called upon, I think, to make at present a choice between the surplus of our protective system and the entire repeal of internal revenue taxes. Such a contingency, in view of the present relation of expenditures to revenues, is remote.

HOW TO USE THE SURPLUS.

"The surplus in the Treasury should be used in the purchase of bonds. The law authorizes this use of it, and if it is not needed for current or deficiency appropriations, the people, and not the banks in which it has been deposited, should have the advantage of its use by the government.

FOREIGN CONTRACT LABORERS.

"Among other questions closely connected with the subject of the tariff is that of the importation of foreign laborers under contract for services to be performed here. The law now in force prohibiting such contracts received my cordial support in the Senate, and such amendments as may be found necessary effectively to deliver our workmen and women from the most inequitable form of competition, will have my sincere advocacy. Legislation prohibiting the importation of laborers under contract to serve here will, however, afford very inadequate relief to our working people if the system of protective duties is broken down. Foreign competition will reduce wages here to the level of those abroad, and when that condition is reached we will not need any laws prohibiting the importation of labor under contract. They will have no inducement to come, and the employer no inducement to send for them.

WANTS TO PUT UP THE BARS.

"In the early years of our history public agencies to promote immigration were common. The pioneer wanted a neighbor with more friendly instincts than the Indian, labor was scarce and fully employed, but the day of the immigration bureau has gone by. While our doors will continue to be open to proper immigration, we do not need to issue special invitations to the inhabitants of other countries to come to our shores or to share our citizenship. Indeed, the necessity of some inspection and limitation is obvious. We should resolutely refuse to permit foreign Governments to send their paupers and criminals to our ports. We are also clearly under a duty to defend our civil position by excluding alien races whose ultimate assimilation with our people is neither possible nor desirable. The family has been the nucleus of our best immigration and the most potent assimilating force in our civilization.

SOUND ON THE CHINESE QUESTION.

"The objections to Chinese immigration are distinct and conclusive, and are now so generally accepted as such that the question has passed entirely around the stage of argument. If I should be charged with their enforcement, be faithfully executed. Such amendments or further legislation as may be necessary and proper to prevent evasions of the laws and to stop further Chinese immigration would also meet my approval. The experience of the convention upon this subject is in entire harmony with my views. Our civil compact is a Government by the majority, and the law loses its sanction and the Chief Magistrate our respect when this compact is broken.

ELECTION FRAUDS.

"The evil results of election frauds do not expend themselves upon voters who are robbed of their rightful influence in public affairs. The individual or community or party that practices or connives at election frauds has suffered irreparable injury, and will sooner or later realize that to exchange the American system of majority rule for minority control is not only unlawful and unpatriotic, but very unsafe for those who promote it. The disfranchisement of a single legal elector by fraud or intimidation is a crime too grave to be regarded lightly. The right of every qualified elector to cast one free ballot and to have it honestly counted must not be questioned. Every constitutional power should be used to make this right secure, and punish frauds upon the ballot. Our colored people do not ask special legislation in their interest, but only to be made secure in common rights of American citizenship.
They will, however, naturally mistrust the sincerity of those party leaders who appeal to their race for support only in the locality where suffrage is free and election doubtful, and compass their disfranchisement where their votes cannot be controlling and their choice cannot be coerced.

TERRITORIES ENTITLED TO STATEHOOD.

"The Nation, not less than the State, is dependent for its prosperity and security upon the intelligence and morality of its people. This common interest very easily suggests national aid in the establishment and endowment of schools and colleges in the new State. There is, I believe, at present an exigency that calls for still more liberal and direct appropriation in aid of common school education in the States. The territorial form of government is a temporary expedient—not a permanent civil condition. It is adapted to the exigency that suggest it, but becomes inadequate and even oppressive when applied to fixed and populous communities. Several Territories are well able to bear the burdens and discharge the duties of free Commonwealths in the American Union. To exclude them is to deny the rights of their people, and may well excite their indignant protest.
No question of the political preference of the people in a Territory should close against them the hospitable door which has opened to two-thirds of the existing States, but admission should be resolutely refused to any Territory a majority of whose people cherish institutions that are repugnant to our civilization or inconsistent with a republican form of government.

TRUSTS AND COMBINATIONS.

"The declarations of the Republican National Convention against all combinations of capital organized in trusts or otherwise, to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens, are in harmony with the views entertained and publicly expressed by me long before the assembling of the convention.
Ordinary capital shares the losses of idleness with labor, but under the operation of a trust, in some of its forms, the wage-workers alone suffer loss, while idle capital receives its dividend. Our duty and our producers who refuse to join these combinations are destroyed, and competition, as an element of prices, is eliminated. It cannot be doubted that the legislative authority should and will find a method of dealing fairly and effectually with these and other abuses connected with this subject.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS' PENSIONS.

"It can hardly be necessary for me to say that I am heartily in sympathy with the declaration of the convention upon the subject of pensions to our sailors and soldiers. What they gave—and what I had some opportunity to observe, and in a small way to experience—they gave ungrudgingly. It was not a trade, but an offering. The measure was heaped up running over. What they achieved, only a distant generation can adequately tell without attempting to discuss particular propositions. I may add that a measure, in behalf of the sorrowing veterans of the war, and of the families of their dead comrades, should be conceived and executed in a spirit of justice and of most grateful liberality, and that, in competition for civil appointment, honorable military service should have appropriate recognition.

THE CIVIL SERVICE LAW.

"The law regulating appointments to classified civil service received my support in the Senate in the belief that it opened the way to a much needed reform. I still think so, and therefore cordially approve the clear and forcible expressions of the convention upon this subject. The law should have aid in a friendly interpretation and be vigorously and faithfully enforced. All appointments under it should be absolutely free from partisan consideration and influences. Some extensions of the classified list are practicable and desirable, and further legislation extending reform to other branches of service to which it is applicable would receive my approval. In appointments to every grade and department, fitness, and not party service, should be essential, and fidelity and efficiency the only sure tenure of office. Only the interests of the public service should suggest removals from office. I know the practical difficulties attending an attempt to apply the spirit of the civil service rules to all appointments and removals. If will, however, be my sincere purpose, if elected, to advance the reform I notice with pleasure.

TEMPERANCE AND MORALITY.

"The convention did not omit to express its solicitude for the promotion of virtue and temperance among our people. The Republican party has always been friendly to everything that tended to make the home life of our people free, pure and prosperous, and will in future be true to its history in this respect.

OUR RELATIONS WITH FOREIGN POWERS.

Should be characterized by friendliness and respect. The right of our people and our ships to hospitable treatment should be insisted upon with dignity and firmness. Our nation is too great, both in material strength and in moral power, to indulge in bluster or to be suspected of timorousness. Vacillation and inconstancy are as incompatible with successful diplomacy as they are with the national dignity.

OUR FISHERIES.

"We should especially cultivate and extend our diplomatic and commercial relations with the Central and South American States. Our fisheries should be fostered and protected. The hardships and risks that are the necessary incidents of the business should not be increased by an inhospitable exclusion from near-lying ports. The resources of a firm, dignified and consistent diplomacy are alone equal to the prompt and peaceful solution of the difficulties that now exist. Our neighbors will surely not expect in our ports commercial hospitality they deny to us in theirs.

SOLID ON THE SILVER QUESTION.

"I do not extend this letter by special reference to other subjects upon which the convention gave expression. In respect to them, as well as to the above, I have noticed that I am in entire agreement with the declarations of the convention. The resolutions relating to the coinage of silver, to the rebuilding of the navy, to coast defenses and to the public lands express conclusions, to all of which I gave my support in the Senate.

"Inviting a calm and thoughtful consideration of these public questions, we submit them to the people. Their intelligent patriotism and the good Providence that made and has kept us a nation will lead them to wise and safe conclusions.

"Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

"BENJAMIN HARRISON."

Our Military.—The Virginia Report says:
The Emmets and Nationals of this city will attend the State Fair on the 19th instant. The whole militia of the State have been ordered to report there on the date above named for rifle practice, drill and inspection. There has been nothing said in the order indicating that the drill is to be competitive, but if it is we are sanguine that Virginia's companies will add laurels to those already won. Transportation has been arranged for, and it is probable that Reno will witness the finest military display ever made in that city. Both our companies will attend with a full complement of rank and file.

KATHLEEN MAVOURNEEN.—Active rehearsals are going on for the production of the above-named play at McKissick's Opera House, on next Saturday night, for the benefit of the Trinity Church Guild Society, and the amateurs will succeed in presenting it in excellent style. Under the careful drill of Mr. D. E. Fritz, they have developed unexpected talent, and as the cause is a worthy one, the ladies deserve a full house, which is, however, no matter of doubt, for the seats are going rapidly. Of the three great commanders of the Civil War, Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, the career of Sheridan was by far the most romantic. We all know with what interest the whole country read the personal memoirs of Grant and the personal memoirs of Sherman, and we believe that the personal memoirs of "Little Phil" will attract equal attention and command as large a sale. His memoirs have the value of an important historical production and the interest of a great work of fiction. The book is not statistical, but full of personal incidents and the wonderful story which it tells holds the reader spell-bound. It is a clear, concise, graphic and yet simple account of a wonderful life. It was penned not only because he desired to tell the story of his life in his own way, but with the hope that his family might receive a competency from its sale. Coming as this book does from one of America's greatest and best-loved soldiers, we are sure that it will find a place in every home in the country. The J. Dewing Company, 813 Market street, San Francisco, have charge of the sale this side of the Rocky mountains. Applications for agencies addressed to them will receive prompt attention.

SUNSET COX MUST HUSTLE.
His New Location Will Compel Him to Work Hard to be Elected.

New York, Sept. 6th.—The question of sending Samuel S. Cox to Congress for another term is settled. There was at no time much uncertainty of his candidacy, but it was hard to find a Congressional district in the city in which he would be elected without trouble. Mr. Cox has represented four different metropolitan districts in Congress. He has been a carpet-bagger. Tammany has each time decided where he should locate for the purposes of a legal residence long enough before election to legalize his vote. Usually he has been thus placed in a part of the city overwhelmingly Democratic, so that his campaigns have never been uncertain. But this year there have come forward an unusual number of strong politicians desirous of going to Washington. In every one of the down-town districts, wherein the resident population is comparatively small and Democratic nominations cannot result in anything else than elections, there is at least one statesman who cannot be put off. Therefore an entirely new field had to be selected, and that has been a most difficult job. The district from which he was last sent to Congress is controlled by Patrick Reilly, who has just grown rich in the office of Register and who is bound to be a Congressman. It was proposed to displace Congressman Tim Campbell, and then Congressman Amos J. Cummings was mentioned for sacrifice, but both these active legislators refused to step down and out. It is now decided by Tammany to nominate Cox in the Eleventh District, which is on the west side of the town between Sixteenth and Fifty-second streets. This decision will involve for the numerous and eloquent gentleman a hot campaign, for the parties are about equally divided in that district, so for the first time in twenty years he will have to hustle for himself. Hitherto he has always been a speaker in behalf of other candidates, his own nomination being his reward, but now he will have to use his own oratory, and employ the help of Tammany instead of helping it.

An Explanation.
What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the liver which, in performing its functions, finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channels is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. It cures are marvelous.
